AMERICA'S SAFEGUARD
IS REPUBLICANISM
HARDING TELLS CROWD

Senator In Address Before 50,000 People at Jackson Charges Democratic Administration With "Grotesque Inefficiency" and "Prodigal Waste."

WILL PROTECT AMERICAN INDUSTRY

Protective Tariff Necessary, He Declares, To Maintain American Industry To High Efficiency—Proper Policy Wanted By Republicans.

Jackson, O., Oct. 20.—Speaking this afternoon to a great gathering of people at an old fashioned barbecue, Senator Warren G. Harding, charged the Democratic administration with "grotesque inefficiency," and "prodigal waste," in its conduct of the nation's affairs. Every one in America, he said, had been made to "pay dearly" for the administration's mistakes.

The audience which Senator Harding found here was one of the largest he has faced in the campaign. From all over southern Ohio, and parts of Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania people came here today by special train and motor to attend the barbecue. Preliminary estimates of the crowd ran as high as 50,000.

To feed this great throng 500 beefs were butchered and cooked in the open over trenches. There was also "burgoo"—old time Kentucky institution consisting of a concoction of meat and vegetables cooked in huge iron pots. Several carloads of produce went into the burgoo pots.

Senator Harding arrived at noon on a special train. After lunching on barbecued beef and burgoo, he made a short speech. Representative "Nick" Longworth and Frank B. Willis, candidate for Senator Harding's seat in the senate, also spoke.

Many of those attending were from the iron and steel regions of southern Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia and the senator's address dealt principally with that industry.

"I would like," said the senator, "to see the standards of living among foreign nations raised up to our standards. I should like to see them prosperous as we have been prosperous, but I do not intend to see our prosperity and our standards of living in the iron and steel industry lowered to meet the competition of foreign countries in our markets.

"We stand for a proper policy of American protection, flexible, subject to readjustments, fair to our consumers, and yet protecting American investments and the standard of living of those American laborers who do their part by giving us 100 percent efficiency in their productive effort.

"The truth of the matter is, that with all the progressive tongues and all the literary idealism of our opponents, it is still the Republican party not only to tariff protection but to every other kind of protection which stands as the safeguard of America.

"It is a simple matter to make phrases; it is more difficult to perform, but it is on their respective records as phrase makers and performers that the Democratic forces of this campaign and the Republican party oppose each other.

"I do not wonder that the present administration and those whom it has chosen as its successors, are trying to divert the attention of the country from the neglect, the prodigal wastes and the grotesque inefficiency for which they have made us all pay so dearly."

Senator Harding was scheduled to leave Jackson at 4 p. m. for Columbus from whence he will turn eastward tonight to Rochester and Buffalo where he will speak tomorrow.

COX AND HARDING LIVE IN SAME HOUSE

It has been discovered that Cox and Harding live in the same house in Baltimore. But these two gentlemen who possess the same surnames as the distinguished candidates for President, are not running for that office.

Charles T. Cox is a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat. While Marshall Harding, running true to form, is a supporter of the G. O. P. candidate. In spite of their names and different political opinions, Cox and Harding are on very friendly terms.

OUTBREAK OF VIOLENCE
IN WELCH COAL FIELDSLOCAL PASTOR GIVES TALK AT MEETING OF MINISTERIAL BODY

Rev. Dr. D. A. Scott pastor of the First M. E. Church of this city, was a speaker at the all day session of the Ministerial Association of the Springfield district held at St. Paul's M. E. Church, Springfield, Tuesday, with services in the morning, afternoon and evening.

Rev. W. H. Hollingshead, of Chicago, who is touring this state for the purpose of urging subscriptions for the centenary of the Ohio Western Conference, spoke at the morning session and other addresses were by Rev. Scott, Rev. E. T. Waring of Troy, Rev. W. H. Huber of South Charleston, Rev. O. P. Hoffman of Urbana.

The afternoon session, which was opened by Rev. W. A. Vorhis, of Greenville, was spent in discussion of the talks made in the morning. Short sermons were also delivered by Rev. Dr. F. I. Johnson, secretary of the Cincinnati area, Rev. Clarence LaRue, pastor of Grace M. E. Church of Springfield and Rev. V. E. Busler of Cedarville.

The sessions culminated with a largely attended evening service at which Bishop William L. Anderson of Cincinnati spoke on the text, "Christianity in the World Today." Following Bishop Anderson's address Dr. John H. Raze, senior publishing agent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, made a short talk. Motion pictures were then shown, depicting the growth and development of Methodism in the West and the services closed with prayer.

About sixty pastors from this district including Cincinnati, Urbana, Yellow Springs, South Charleston, Troy, Piqua, Xenia, Jamestown, Cedarville and Springfield were present.

ROOT SAYS PEACE
DELAY WAS CAUSED
BY U. S. PRESIDENT

New York, Oct. 20.—Elihu Root, in his first address on the League of Nations since the presidential campaign was begun, last night, declared that the treaty of peace with Germany would have been ratified, and that America would have been a member of the league if President Wilson "had been willing."

INVESTIGATION INTO IRISH SITUATION
DEMANDED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

London, Oct. 20.—The Irish situation which has now reached the climax of its seriousness was taken up in the house of commons today, Arthur Henderson, laborite member gave notice that he would demand an independent investigation on the ground that conditions in Ireland have become so menacing as to justify it. Followers of former Premier H. H. Asquith, the opposition leader, announced that they would support such a motion.

"There should be an investigation of the reprisal attacks on the part of those (the black and tan police) whose duty it is to maintain law and order," said Mr. Henderson.

The promise of a statement on the Irish situation by Premier Lloyd George attracted an enormous crowd and the spectators' gallery was jammed.

No Solution Of Trouble
In Coal Fields Is At Hand.

London, Oct. 20.—Another outbreak of violence by striking Welsh coal miners was reported from Tony Pandy today. Five hundred strikers took part in a demonstration and sang the revolutionary song "The Red Flag." Fighting broke out when the police attempted to disperse them. The police were stoned and considerable damage was done to property. Finally the police charged with riot sticks and the strikers were put to flight.

Declarations by officials at the opening session of parliament have failed to bring a solution of the national coal strike any nearer than it was yesterday.

A meeting of the executive committee of the National Union of Railwaymen was held today to consider the advisability of extending the strike to the railroads.

J. H. Thomas, head of the railwaymen's union left the meeting before it was adjourned to attend a conference of the parliamentary labor committee.

There were persistent reports of a fresh movement toward peace in the coal fields.

The men are seeking a wage increase of two s. hillings per shift, but they also demand a reduction in the price of fuel to domestic consumers.

There was a big increase in enforced idleness in the industrial district during the past 24 hours as a result of the coal strike. It is now estimated that 1,600,000 men and women are jobless either directly or indirectly due to the strike.

The Times calls the speech of the premier disappointing.

MALE GALLANTRIES
ARE NOW DECRIED

Washington, Oct. 20.—Now that woman is politically enfranchised shall the tired business man continue to doff his hat by way of saluting her, bare his head every time she registers the act of entering an elevator and rise in the street car to give her a seat?

"No!" cry the feminists here. Away with these so called gallantries on the part of the male! They are degrading to woman—relics of the day when she was in a condition of servitude.

The combined feminist voice will demand a declaration against them in the bill of rights to be drafted by the national convention of women voters which Alice Paul, head of the National Woman's party, announced today will assemble here February 15.

An urgent call had gone forth to all the members supporting the government to be in their seats.

Fresh reports of police violence were received on the eve of the opening of the Irish debate. According to a dispatch from Dublin "black and tan" policemen in Tipperary and Roscommon counties forcibly took three men from their homes and shot them in the presence of relatives.

Heavy guards and mounted police was maintained about the parliament building and other government buildings. The threat of further demonstrations by unemployed and by Irish sympathizers kept Scotland Yard on the alert. Crowds were not allowed to gather in the streets and about parliament buildings.

U. S. WARSHIPS PROMISED FOR EUROPEAN WARS

Former Premier Bratiano, Of Roumania, Makes Statement.

QUOTES PRESIDENT

Castes New Angle On Controversy Between Wilson and Spencer.

Paris, Oct. 20.—Former Premier Bratiano of Roumania joined the controversy between president Wilson and Senator Spencer today with the announcement that the American president at the eighth plenary session of the peace conference in Paris, promised to send the American army and the American fleet to Europe to guarantee the treaty.

The president's memorable speech was addressed directly to the Roumanian delegation (headed by M. Bratiano) and the Jugo Slavs.

M. Bratiano telegraphed his version of the incident to the Paris bureau of the International News Service from Bucharest. As the former Roumanian premier was directly addressed by President Wilson he was asked by the International News Service to give his personal account of the matter. M. Bratiano took occasion to assail President Wilson and his collaborators for "dictating the peace treaty." He insists that the president and his collaborators should now guarantee the security of the states "to which President Wilson dictated his will."

Former Premier Bratiano's telegram from the Roumanian capital follows in part:

"In reply to your telegram here are passages from President Wilson's statement made at the plenary session of the peace conference, on May 31, 1919:

"The allied and associated powers will guarantee to maintain as much as possible the just conditions to which they will have agreed. They take upon themselves this engagement and naturally upon them falls the principal responsibility.

"It must not be forgotten that their force is the guarantee. The same argument applies to their authority. It is on the same basis that the minority states mentioned should understand that the principal powers will guarantee the very existence of these states.

"Is it unjust that they agreed to this demand since conditions which we regard as fundamentally just are in question? The guarantee given to you amounts to this: That the United States will send from the other sides of the ocean their army and their fleet."

Team workers for the extension membership campaign of the Xenia Chamber of Commerce, started their work was an enthusiastic meeting and luncheon at The Regal Hotel Wednesday noon.

John R. Kneebone, campaign manager from the American City Bureau talked to the workers following the luncheon. "The biggest danger to a city of this size is for all the people to be satisfied," said Mr. Kneebone. "We want men who are not satisfied. By that I do not mean men who are knockers, or that we want boosters who do a lot of verbal reforming and little work. Neither do we want the sort of man who boasts every project that comes along, whether good or bad."

"The Xenia Chamber of Commerce has an excellent record back of it," said the speaker. He pointed out that the requirements of a good Chamber of Commerce are, an adequate income, trained management, proper publicity, a definite program of work, a working membership, an intelligent local survey, and a good office system.

According to Mr. Kneebone, the Xenia Chamber has all of these requirements with the exception of the adequate income, and he urged that members work to increase the scope of the Chamber by securing as many new members as possible in the three days campaign which the meeting opened.

The team captains and their crews started their work Wednesday and will continue Thursday and Friday.

WEDNESDAY CLOSES
SEASON ON SQUIRRELS

Wednesday officially closed the open season for squirrel hunting. After October 20 the hunting of this animal is prohibited by law.

Since the opening of the season, September 15, hundreds of squirrels have been bagged by hunters of this, and neighboring counties, and reports indicate that there has been plenty of the game.

Hunting licenses issued now are good until the first of the year, when another must be procured from the office of the clerk of courts at the court house.

FESS FLAYS WILSONISM;
PREDICTS G.O.P. VICTORY

FIND KNIFE-GUN

This ingenious weapon, a knife-gun was found on a prisoner being searched in the West Side Court, New York City. It has the appearance of a pocket knife but in reality is a revolver, firing a .22 calibre bullet. What appears to be the blade of the knife is the trigger. The bullets are inserted in a hollowed out blade in the handle and are discharged thru the front.

Dr. Fess made no reference to his own candidacy for re-election, but devoted the two hours he spent in talking to dissecting the League of Nations as it stands, reviewing the actions that led up to the League and presenting scathing denunciation of the Wilson regime in the national government.

PREDICTS DECLINE IN PRICES IS NOW
WELL UNDER WAY

Columbus, O., Oct. 20.—"The peak has been reached. While some commodities may show a slight increase, the big decline in prices has started," said John A. Ulmer, Toledo, president of the National Retail Grocers' association, addressing the Ohio Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers convention here.

"The sharp drops of the past two weeks are merely the beginning. No longer is the seller in the saddle. The buyer now dictates the price, continued Mr. Ulmer.

"The solution of the business problems of the country lies in the substitution of cooperation for competition," declared John A. Green, secretary of the national association. He said the competency of any person to work in the grocery trade should be determined by examination.

Dr. Fess said that Democratic leaders explained that European countries had to be permitted to sell their goods here in order to pay off the debt owed the United States. "I would rather, a thousand times over, cancel that debt than allow Europe to drive American commerce out of existence," he said.

He prophesied, with a Republican regime, a cut in the cost of government operation, and an ending of the extravagance. The speaker reviewed the incidents in Congress that led up to the war and its outcome, League Referring to Secretary of War Baker, he said, "I never would have thought of Baker in connection with the War Department. He is a known pacifist."

Referring to the investigations of profiteering the speaker said: "The prosecutions are by the Democratic administration and they won't find themselves guilty. There won't be any guilt established while the Democrats are doing the establishing."

Referring to the power of the president, Dr. Fess said: "Wilson undertakes to ride over not only the House, but the Senate. He says the executive must be as powerful as his ability will permit him. Congress will not even sneeze until the President has taken snuff," he added. "No man can be big enough to be the whole thing in America."

"My opinion is," said the speaker referring to the League again, "that this nation would go to the rescue of France, if that country were invaded, but when we go it will be by our own order, and not by a triple alliance in Europe. This country will never go into any league that will give any other country more votes than we have. President Wilson could order Europe, but he can't order the Senate. We have not reached the place yet, where the President can say: 'Sign on this dotted line and don't ask me any questions.' We don't propose to go in any league where we are outvoted in the assembly and the council."

Treaty Is Dead.

Continuing, Congressman Fess said: "There is no league greater than our government. The treaty lies dead in the house of its friends, and its author killed it. Now, Wilson's under study is running."

"This is a prediction" added the Congressman. "That James M. Cox will be the worst defeated candidate that ever ran for President; that Warren G. Harding will be elected by the greatest majority ever delivered to any presidential candidate in history; that the senate will change from 11 to 17 Republicans and Frank B. Willis will be one of them; that the House, now Republican by 28 will be Republican by not less than 71; and that the Representative now addressing you will be returned by the largest majority he ever received."

London, Oct. 20.—Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney's mind broke under the strain of his 69th day hunger strike today and he was delirious for two hours. Relatives were hurriedly summoned to the Brixton jail infirmary as the officials feared Mac Swiney was dying.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon MacSwiney relatives issued the following statement:

"Terence is now quieter but his mind is still affected."

FLYERS HOP OFF.

Erie, Pa., Oct. 20.—The Alaskan flyers headed by Captain Street of the United States army hoped of at 10 o'clock this morning and expecting to reach Mineola by noon today.

CONGRESSMAN IN
TALK IN XENIA
FLAYS LEAGUE

Denouncing the League of Nations and flaying Wilsonism and Democratic inefficiency, Congressman S. D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, warmed up before a crowd that packed the Opera House Tuesday evening, speaking for about two hours on campaign issues.

Delegations from towns in the county swarmed into the theater before time for the opening of the meeting, and turned the affair into a Republican rally. Two chartered cars brought the Yellow Springs delegation with a colored band which played on entering the building.

Ten members of the Republican Glee Club of Columbus, were applauded enthusiastically in their rendition of campaign parodies, after they had led the audience in "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." George Little, president of the Xenia Harding and Coolidge Club had charge of the meeting, and Rev. V. F. Brown, conducted the invocation.

Mrs. Allen Speaks.

Mrs. Ed. Allen, of Jamestown, spoke briefly, addressing her remarks principally to the women in the audience, urging that League be refuted, and paying a handsome tribute to Congressman Fess, who followed her on the program.

Dr. Fess made no reference to his own candidacy for re-election, but devoted the two hours he spent in talking to dissecting the League of Nations as it stands, reviewing the actions that led up to the League and presenting scathing denunciation of the Wilson regime in the national government.

"Never before, have we had as the paramount issue, a question that involves foreign relations such as this," said Congressman Fess. "The inefficiency, the wicked waste, the unbridled extravagance, the orgy of waste that has swept this country has so aroused the American spirit that the people are tired of this regime, and it is going to be turned out."

Imports Increasing.

"If we make a mistake this year in mortgaging America's future to European interests that mistake won't be corrected in the next 50 years. Our imports are rapidly increasing and they will soon be beyond our exports. That means that soon our balance of trade will be against the United States. The Underwood tariff law is not at all protective. It means that the gold here in reserve will have to be sent out of the country to pay for the balance."

Dr. Fess said that Democratic leaders explained that European countries had to be permitted to sell their goods here in order to pay off the debt owed the United States. "I would rather, a thousand times over, cancel that debt than allow Europe to drive American commerce out of existence," he said.

He prophesied, with a Republican regime, a cut in the cost of government operation, and an ending of the extravagance. F. D. ROOSEVELT FAILS
TO APPEAR IN XENIA

Xenia Democrats were disappointed Wednesday morning when Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential candidate did not appear at the Pennsylvania depot here as scheduled.

Mr. Roosevelt changed his route plans at the last minute and cancelled arrangement with local yard men to switch his car to the Columbus train at this city last night. Many were informed of the change of plans and were saved the trip to the depot, however. Mr. Roosevelt spoke in Dayton Tuesday night and was scheduled to arrive here at 8:20 o'clock Wednesday morning and leave at 8:40 for Columbus.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID S. D. FESS AS LEADER BY WRITER IN THE NATIONAL MAGAZINE

Simeon D. Fess, of the Seventh Ohio District, candidate for re-election to congress on the Republican ticket, has cut for himself a niche in the hall of fame that places him among the ablest of public officials in the country today. That this is the consensus of opinion of many leading contemporaries of the congressman, is aptly illustrated in an article by Joe Mitchell Chapple in the National Magazine, which says:

"There are few men in Congress who do more straight thinking than Simeon D. Fess. He is called Doctor, not only because of college degrees, but because he just naturally knows more about straightening out kinks in debate and making a clear-cut, lucid diagnosis of an involved situation, politically, than any of his colleagues—even veterans in the service. In short he is a leader in Congress whose advice is sought because it stands the test of being sound. In the dark days of the Democratic landslide and the Republican reactions, Dr. Fess came upon the scene. He was soon chosen chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee because he knew how to state issues clearly and argue convincingly. Fearless and unafraid, he has proven the type of Congressman that other districts covet, because he thinks and acts on broad national lines.

"As a speaker he is in great demand, because he knows his subject and knows how to tell it from the viewpoint of an eye-witness—one who speaks direct, and not by hearsay. In his own district the people know more intimately the caliber of the man. He attended a country school—a real distinction these days—and then began a life of unceasing work and activity, and was at once selected for a place in the faculty, taking the chair of American history, and he certainly does know his history of the United States and the world of government. He was later admitted to the bar and practiced for a time, but the love of teaching was too strong and he was called to the University of Chicago, and became editor of World Events. In his study of political history, he understands the point of personal contact.

"As vice-president of the Ohio Constitutional Convention he was the author of the amendment creating the department of State superintendent of public instruction, which has since become a model of its kind. He helped to frame the initiative and referendum amendment. He revealed here a genius for constructive statesmanship—put to a practical test. While president of Antioch College, in 1912, he was elected to Congress in a district that had been Democratic in politics. His re-elections were a series of pyramided pluralities and majorities. His leadership in the House of Representatives, has been characterized by the same thoughtful intelligent conviction of the "man who knows." In his extended lecture and speaking tours over the country, he was soon recognized as a man of the proportions required in handling national affairs. "There is an element of consistent courage in his make-up that long ago lifted him from the ranks of a sal-trimming politician. He puts conscience and human interest into his work. In supporting the nomination of Warren G. Harding he was guided by the same consistent logic that has given him some fame as a political prophet. He deals in fundamentals, and the Seventh District of Ohio, is naturally proud of the little giant of brain power and constructive genius that has given to their state and district a Representative of national proportions whose services mean much to them as well as the nation. They have faith and confidence in Dr. Fess, and this has extended far beyond the meandering meter and bounds of the district which he has so long and ably represented.

PROMINENT MEN ELECTED TO BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ANTIOCH COLLEGE TUESDAY

Filling vacancies existing in the board of trustees of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, new members were elected at the meeting held at Engineers' Club, Dayton, Tuesday afternoon.

The new trustees are: Jerome Greene, for years principal assistant of President Elliot of Harvard University, then secretary of the general education board, and now a member of the firm of Lee Higginson & Company, New York.

Edward F. Gay, formerly dean of Harvard school of business administration, and now manager of the New York Evening Post; Henry S. Dennison, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company; Ellery Sedgwick, editor of the Atlantic Monthly; William Mayo, chief engineer of Henry Ford's organization and vice president of the Hooven, Owens and Rentschler Company, of Hamilton.

General J. Warren Keifer of Springfield was elected emeritus professor of history at the college. The election of these new members to the board of trustees of the historic Greene County School, gives that board a personnel of some of the most prominent business, literary and engineering men in the country.

On the board elected some time ago, when Arthur Morgan, chief engineer of the Miami Conservancy was named president of the College, the following trustees were elected: C. F. Kettering, Dayton; William Christ, Dayton; John C. Haswell, Dayton; George M. Verity, Middletown; Gordon Rentschler, Hamilton; J. H. Hunt, Dayton and Frank D. Slutz, Dayton.

Beginning September, 1921, the college will be operated on a co-operative basis, students getting their schooling one half the time, and working in order to get the practical side of their studies, the other half of the time. Such a plan has been adopted successfully in many colleges and large universities and enables the schools to give a more practical education.

Enlargement of the old college will be necessary, with the increased plans for the school which are back of the appointment of the new board and officers. It is assured and a roseate future for the Horace Mann college is predicted by the appointments Tuesday.

Mrs. Niles Starts 6-months Old
Pullets Laying. Tells How.

"Early in November, I bought a package of 17 young pullets. In the first 20 days they laid 135 lovely eggs. All through December I got 11 to 13 eggs a day."—Mrs. E. S. Niles, R. F. D. 2, Lucerne, Ind.

Mrs. Niles found how to start young pullets laying and keep them laying all winter. The same method helps hens through the moult, and starts them laying. You can test this at our risk.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

Don Sung can be obtained promptly from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail prepaid. Bureau Poultry Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

Fortify Yourself Against The "Flu"

Health Talk No. 7.
By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C. Ph. C.

Health
turns the
Backward

This is the season of the year when sudden changes in temperature may catch you too lightly clothed. If the body is not in vigorous condition, you are easily made a victim of influenza. The body is fortified against colds or influenza when the lungs, the kidneys, the liver and the stomach are getting their full share of nervous energy. The nerve lines are power lines running to all parts of the body. But when some one of the 24 movable joints of the backbone becomes out of alignment, then the nerve exit between spinal joints is narrowed and the nerve is pinched. The transmission of nervous energy is disturbed, some organ is weakened and becomes incapable or diseased. Chiropractic adjustments restore spinal alignment, and with the cause removed the disease goes. Call and have a spinograph (X-ray plate) made and see for yourself the cause of your poor health.

RETURNED TO SCHOOL

"Last year I had the 'flu.' My wife had just had a wonderful experience in getting rid of a goitre that had resisted all other treatment for two years, and so I decided to try chiropractic first. ## EDUCATION MUST GO FORWARD DECLARES U. S. OFFICIAL IN TALK IN XENIA

Urging more interest in public school affairs, deprecating the conditions that require that teachers be paid small salaries, and demanding remedies for the situation that permits teachers to teach without at least two years normal course, the United States Commissioner of Education, Philander P. Claxton, of the Department of the Interior at Washington, spoke to a large crowd at the Opera House Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Xenia Chamber of Commerce and the Greene County Teachers' Association.

Mr. Claxton spoke on the subject, "What Can We Afford to Pay for Education," and his address was warmly greeted by the audience of teachers and laymen that heard it.

H. C. Aultman, superintendent of the county schools had charge of the meeting, presenting Rev. C. P. Proudfoot who delivered the invocation.

A short program was presented preceding the address, in which the Central High School Junior and Senior Girls' Glee Club sang, Miss Irene Parret gave a violin solo accompanied on the piano by Miss Theda Downig and Miss Frances Loyd sang.

C. A. Waltz, superintendent of Xenia city schools, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, first addressing a few remarks to the audience, urging the passage of the three mill school levy by a recent legislative act.

"There are occasions in the career of cities that can be looked upon with great pride. We, this afternoon, have that occasion," said Mr. Waltz.

The subject, "What Can We Afford to Pay for Education," he said, "is entirely apropos." He further explained that the three mill levy had been passed in many cities and that if relief is not extended in this city that "the situation here is one of financial bankruptcy, and at the end of the year the school will be $70,000 in debt. That is not the fault of mismanagement. The money received for the past six or seven years has not been sufficient," he said.

The failure to pass this levy means that we will have to cut the school year to eight months and give up all our vocational features.

Mr. Claxton reviewed the costs of the war referring to the fact that in July, 1914, the total value of the world as computed was 750 billions of dollars. The war, he said, cost two-fifths of the wealth, or about 300 billions. This besides the men killed and injured, those that died in revolution and in sickness, and the vast number of orphans and the great amount of bereavement and sorrow occasioned.

"The constructive processes are not quick but slow," said the speaker. "In all history education has been the chief interest of the people and all things have waited on education. The most important problem of state-manship is the means of education—the support of our schools. We are today the leading nation of the world. We own nearly half of the available wealth of the world."

Mr. Claxton referred to the school system of the United States as our chief glory. He expressed an ideal school system of 48 weeks of five days each, and the teacher there seven days. "The schools should not have less than a nine months term," he said. He also urged better attendance, saying that the absence of children from classes last year cost the United States from 150 to 175 millions. Thirty three out of every 100 enter high school and about 14 graduate," he said.

"We must adapt the work of the school in the country to farming and home-making." We must also have a better type of teachers than in the past.

"The way we pay for our schools and pay our teachers is a national shame." "Continuing he pointed out that the average salaries for teachers, principals and superintendents is but $700 a year. "You will have to pay three times as much as you now pay," declared Mr. Claxton. "Democracy is not safe unless the people are intelligent. You paid $10 for other purposes last year for every $1 you paid for schools."

Explaining the results of an investigation he conducted as to why some nations are wealthier, and more progressive than others, he pointed out that in every case it was due to three reasons, natural resources, a native ability and acquired ability or education. "No country has yet reached the limits of the possibilities of education. You can afford to pay for education until you reach the limit of possibilities of improvement of the people."

Mr. Claxton closed his address with an appeal for the three mill school levy. "The man who fails to vote for the three mills is either ignorant or worse," he said.

Mr. Claxton was the dinner guest Tuesday evening of Superintendents

Waltz and Aultman at the Elk's Club. He was then taken to Wilberforce by Principal Arthur Taylor of East High School, where he talked to students and faculty Tuesday evening. He left after the address for Terre Haute, Ind.

COURT NEWS DECISION FAVORS PLAINTIFF IN CASE

A decision in favor of the plaintiff was handed down by the Court of Appeals, which closed its session here Tuesday, in the case of Annie E. Barrett, against Adelaide Skinner.

Owing to the death of Annie E. Barrett, since the case was filed, Mary A. Barrett, administratrix was given leave to become the plaintiff in the action which was revived in her name and granted in her favor.

The suit regarded possession of the farm, which Annie E. Barrett, the plaintiff alleged was her rightful possession but which she claimed had been occupied by the defendant, Adelaide Skinner, who had refused to give Annie E. Barrett an income therefrom or to provide her with a home on the place.

According to the decision on the Appellate court the trust was declared in favor of the plaintiff and the defendant ordered to pay the plaintiff the net income of the farm since March 1, 1912 up until the death of Anna E. Barrett, in April, 1920.

The defendant was also ordered to pay the plaintiff the amount of board and rent paid by the defendant during the time that she was not permitted a residence on the farm.

Harry D. Smith, was appointed Special Master Commissioner, to conduct the accounting and make a report by January 1921, of the amount due.

And tomorrow comes again and again. Still they feel depressed and languid, scarcely able to get around. If you don't feel like yourself you are not yourself. If you are weak and pale, your blood needs strengthening. You should know about Pepto-Mangan, that famous blood tonic. Physicians recommend it and prescribe it because it contains just the ingredients needed to make red blood. It renews your energy, puts you where you ought to be. Begin with it today. Get the tablets if they will be more convenient to take than the liquid. Both have the same medicinal properties. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Ask for "Gude's," and be sure that the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. Advertisement.

YOU CAN THROW AWAY YOUR EARS AND STILL HAVE ALL YOUR SENSES.

That may sound ridiculous—but it's right. In buying a Fall suit or Top Coat here—you only have to bring in your chest, neck and eyes—we'll fit the first two—and leave the rest up to you. No long yarns about our yardage. No myths about our models. No fibs about our figures. We simply show the clothes—mention the prices—and leave it to your optics whether or not we make the sale.

In a word—our models are the last word in style—our patterns are the essence of politeness—and our values—well—they are so big and outstanding that if you came in for a brown suit—and we didn't happen to have it—you would be tempted to change your color—rather than change your clothiers.

Fall Suits and Top Coats $40.00, $50.00, $60.00 and up.

LOST—$1,000,000,000!—GIVEN TO THE DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION FOR AIRCRAFT AND SQUANDERED WITHOUT SENDING A FIGHTING PLANE TO FRANCE.

The complete failure of the American Aircraft Program during the war is the most humiliating disgrace that ever came to this country in the field of arms, and constitutes perhaps the most appalling record made by our War Department. We realize this is a fearful accusation, but it is true. It is confirmed by four independent investigations, one by Gutzman Borglum, one by former Supreme Court Justice Charles E. Hughes, one by a subcommittee of the Military Committee of the Senate and one by a special investigating committee of the House of Representatives. All reached the same conclusions.

Aircraft is as essential to a modern army as artillery or rifles. The work of the air force is a part of every military operation. An army deficient in aircraft is materially helpless. Everybody knows this. The Secretary of War knew it when we entered the war. Therefore, he is directly responsible for the whole miserable fiasco.

During the last days of the war we had in round numbers 2,000,000 men in France, of whom 1,250,000 were in the field armies. This force according to Col. Patrick of the United States army needed 3,400 fighting and observation planes. The airplanes we actually did have at the front at the close of hostilities were: American built pursuit or combat planes, none. American built bombing planes, none. American built observation planes 196. Machines bought from our allies 544. Total planes at front November 11, 1918, 740.

In number we had one-fifth the air force needed; in quality the situation was vastly worse. In comparison with our allies and chief enemy the position of the United States in aircraft force is shown by this table: France had 3,321. England had 1,758. Germany had 2,730. United States had 740.

As Col. Patrick testified before an investigating committee, as far as the manufacture of pursuit planes or bombing planes in the United States was concerned, we were practically in the same position in August, 1919, as we were in when we entered the World War. Or, to take from the record the evidence of the Secretary of War himself, given in response to a question put by a congressman: MR. FEAR: And we did not during the whole period of the war get a fighting machine or bombing plane to the front? SECRETARY BAKER: Not a fighting machine or a bombing machine of American manufacture.

What then did we produce in the way of aircraft? A number of mere training planes "wooden grasshoppers" that only skipped along the ground; seaslides; several thousand worthless planes that were scrapped.

Yet Congress had appropriated for the air service with lavish prodigality. In fact every dollar asked for was instantly given. Total appropriations 1917 and 1918, $1,692,336,424. Revoked after war ended $487,000,000. Expended or obligated to June 30, 1919, $1,051,511,988.

When our aviators went to flaming death in defective airplanes, when our infantry was mowed down for the lack of airplanes, when a billion of taxpayers' money was spent without saving our own soldiers or destroying the enemy, the responsibility went straight back to the incompetent War Department officials and to the Administration of the President, who sustained and approved his Secretary of War in all his incompetent acts. Is this too harsh? It is not. It is merely to take President Wilson at his own word.

In January, 1918, a Democratic Senator said publicly that Secretary Baker's administration had collapsed. Like a shot came back the reply of President Wilson that Mr. Baker was performing his duties "with extraordinary promptness and efficiency," that Mr. Baker was "one of the ablest public officials" that he had "ever known," and that the Senator's statement was an "absolutely unjustifiable distortion of the truth."

What possible excuse does a soldier's death abroad offer for a grafter's plunder or an incompetent's blunder in America? None, absolutely none! Any school boy who never saw logic, can see that. Yet up to this date there has been no other excuse offered for the Democratic Administration which is seeking to perpetuate itself "on its war record."

COX MEANS DEADLOCK.

A vote for Harding is a vote for some sort of international association to promote peace. A vote for Cox is a vote to prolong the present deadlock.

Mr. Taft makes this point in his recent reply to Governor Cox. The senate, he says, has shown that it will not adopt the league without reservations which President Wilson has rejected, and Cox has accepted the Wilson program.

But the point was made still more forcefully by Mr. Bryan at San Francisco. He took the floor to argue for a reasonable policy on the league in the Democratic platform. As a friend of some arrangement to promote the settlement of international disputes he deplored a blanket indorsement of the Wilson league because the senate had rejected it and no matter what success the Democratic party might have in the election there was no possibility of the election of enough league senators to carry the covenant without reservations. Therefore, to continue to urge the league without reservations was simply to beat against a stone wall and to keep the United States from taking any part in stabilizing international affairs.

Senator Harding has promised to call a conference of Americans of all shades of thought to propose an international program. His idea is that such a program will have the bulk of public sentiment behind it.

Governor Cox is pledged to the Wilson program, which means a deadlock.

As a practical proposition, which candidate deserves the vote of people who are anxious to make the nation count effectively for world peace?

NEW TROUBLE SEEN

Have Pains?

Aches and pains seem to be the lot of the ordinary mortal. However, these should be taken simply as nature's warning signals that some part of the human machine is out of order. It is a mistake to resign one's self to physical torture when the cause can be removed.

Isaac B. Turnman, Asbury Park, N. J., writes: "My back caused me a great deal of trouble for some time. I experienced sharp, shooting pains which were due to the condition of my kidneys. One bottle of Foley Kidney Pills completely relieved me. The pains never returned. I recommend Foley Kidney Pills to my friends."

POTS AND KETTLES.

There is no change on earth, alack! Old customs with us linger; the pot still calls the kettle black, and points a scornful finger. This metaphor of course is wrong, for pots can do no pointing; but let the purists come along, availing and arointing. But men can point, and point they do, with righteous indignation, at all the profiteering crew, of high or humble station. The grocer buys a Sunday suit, and when he's made the payment, he says the government should shoot the maker of that raiment. The tailor to the grocer wends, to buy a few molasses, and then his treasured beard he rends: "The price all reason passes!" The butcher stands beside his block, and butches with a cleaver; he bought some capsules from the doc, to cure his chills and fever. And now he says, "It was a shame, the way that sawbones taxed me; he played a low down, sinful game; he soaked me and he waxed me." The doctor to the butcher goes, to buy a pound of mutton; and says, on leaving, "Heaven knows this meat man is a glutton! My father used to buy a sheep for what this fragment cost me; this butcher's charges, fierce and steep, confound me and exhaust me!" The pots about the kettles wail; the kettles get excited, and say the pots would be in jail if public wrongs were righted.

THIS IS THE BIRTHDAY OF SIR CHRISTOPHER WREN

October 20, 1632

Christopher Wren is the best known of all English architects. He made, probably, a greater impression upon the city of London, than any other person, for he built Saint Paul's Cathedral which towers majestically above the city and 50 of her churches. If all his plans had carried, he would have rebuilt the entire city with straight streets radiating from a central point. Fortunately, he was not able to do this so that the delightfully narrow crooked lanes of past centuries are still one of the fascinating features of London town.

Wren died in 1723 and is buried in Saint Paul's.

DESPONDENT; TAKES LIFE.

Vincent, Ohio, Oct. 19.—Despondent over ill health, John Barrett, 50, former prominent educator in Ohio and California, late yesterday afternoon committed suicide by hanging himself from a stairway in the home of his brother here.

Christopher Wren, son of a clergy brother here.

man, was born in Wiltshire and distinguished himself at Oxford as a scientist. He became a professor of astronomy there but was sufficiently well known as an architect for the King to ask him to make plans for the restoration of the old Saint Paul's in 1660.

The Great Fire of 1666 destroyed not only Saint Paul's but most of London's churches. Wren was commissioned to rebuild 50 of them—besides many of the most important buildings in London and Oxford. His churches are almost always beautiful and are mostly remarkable for the grace of their spires.

Mrs. Stafford McCullough has returned from a visit of several weeks to Toledo, Ohio.

Clifton Cliffs were honored when the front page of the Pictorial Section of the Springfield Daily News of Oct. 3rd was given to five beautiful photographs of the gorge here.

Mr. McEwen, of the Reformed Presbyterian Seminary, Cedarville, Ohio, preached at the Presbyterian Church last Sabbath. His mother and sister motored over from Urbana to hear him.

Quite a good deal of petty stealing has been going on lately, corn, harness, cistern pump from recently purchased property of I. W. Boolman and bed clothes and household goods from the home of Hall sisters on Water street.

Mr. James Hamilton, of Monmouth, Ill., was here Saturday, calling on friends. He was born here 86 years ago.

Mrs. H. R. Corry, who has been confined to her bed by illness for two weeks, is improving slowly.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

FANCY CHICKENS REPLACE DOGS AS STYLISH PETS; ACTRESS STARTS FAD

Miss Louise Glaum and her imported Minorca chicken.

The bluest blooded poultry with the most brilliant plumage may supplant the pedigreed poodle, monkey, parrot, baby lion or bear which have so long held sway as the fashionable pets for millady. Miss Louise Glaum, the well known movie actress, started the fad at Petaluma, California, and it has already been eagerly taken up. She is shown here with a handsome black Minorca chicken which was sent to her by a French costumer. Miss Glaum leads her chicken with a green silk ribbon, attached to a collar about its neck on which the owner's name is embroidered. Rhode Island Heds and White Leghorns are also popular as pets.

Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise anyone going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. MARGARET DANZ, 743 N. 25th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

ONE DEAD, TWO ARE DYING AS RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT

A man believed to be Earl Tobias, of Dayton, is dead, and two men, one of whom is thought to be William W. Brock, of Dayton, and the other unidentified, are dying, from injuries received when the automobile in which they were riding down Vine street, Cincinnati, struck a telephone pole at Eighth street, that city, shortly after midnight, Wednesday morning.

The injured men were taken to the general hospital where it is said neither can live. They are suffering from internal injuries, and broken bones. Witnesses say the car was being driven at the rate of 40 miles an hour.

BABY KILLED WHEN HIT BY STREET CAR

Lloyd Clair, aged 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Clair, 1530 South Brown street, Dayton, died at the Miami Valley Hospital Tuesday evening following injuries received at 4:30 o'clock when he was struck by an Oakwood street car at Brown and Stewart streets.

The child was playing with a girl companion and when she ran across the street he followed her, directly in the path of the street car and too late for the motorman to prevent the accident. The boy was taken to the hospital by a passing motorist but died from shock as he was being carried into the ward. He received a broken arm and lacerations.

BEAUTY CHATS

I wonder why so many girls insist on wearing silk stockings all the time and will have nothing else. I admit their charm and I advise wearing them as a means of making the ankle look smaller and as a matter of comfort, since silk stockings usually fit better than any other sort. However there are times when it is foolish to wear silk stockings and many times when it is unnecessary.

As silk stockings have become enormously expensive recently, it is certainly a matter of wisdom and economy not to wear them all the time. For instance, if you are wearing high-heeled shoes, silk stockings are a superfluity because they do not show. You can, of course, follow the plan of most economical woman and save darned stockings to wear with high shoes where the mended heels will not show.

There are many times when it is foolish to wear silk. If you are going on a country walk you should certainly wear cotton or lisle since one twig or bramble catching a silk thread will start a run that will ruin a perfectly good and expensive pair of stockings.

It is foolish to wear silk for any sort of outdoor sport or outdoor work yet I have seen many silk stockinged women working in gardens or even doing housework.

It is foolish to wear silk stockings outdoors in winter when wool is soft and warm and will protect the body so much better. Silk stockings, after all should be kept for evening wear and for low shoes—unless, of course, you have an unlimited income.

Patience—Lemon juice acts as a bleach to the skin, but if you use very much of it, you will need a cream to supply some oil—otherwise so much acid would irritate the skin. If you enjoy lemons, it means that your stomach needs that acid. The effect on the system is to thin the blood.

Use as astringent in the rinse water to help your shiny nose. You cannot give the skin too much air and as much sun as you can stand, without suffering from tanning. Use sufficient ammonia in the bath water, to make it feel soft as you run your hand through it; this should neutralize the odor from perspiration. To a half of gallon of water use about ten drops of ammonia. If you use the ammonia that is scented with violets, it will leave the skin pleasantly perfumed.

A Reader—Anything that prevents the air from coming into contact with the scalp is bad for the hair. Wearing cap or hat all day overheats the head and will be injurious to it. Even if the air of the machine shop is heated, it cannot effect the hair as badly as confining it in a cap. There is always a circulation of air in the shop which keeps the head aired, even though the temperature is unpleasantly warm. Baldness that is so common with men comes largely from wearing stiff and poorly ventilated hats.

HIRES MOVING VAN; USES SUIT CASE

Atlantic City, N. J. Oct. 19.—Handed an attachment under which he was to seize all of the costumes of a musical comedy playing here, Sergeant at Arms David Brown hired a moving van and went to the theater. The costumes—45 of them—were piled on the stage. "There they are, take them," said the manager. Brown did after dismissing the moving van as the costumes hardly filled a good sized suit case.

Rheumatism Comes From Tiny Pain Germs

First of all, get it firmly fixed in your mind that all the liniments in the world have no effect whatever on Rheumatism.

A very common form of Rheumatism is caused by millions of tiny disease germs which infect the blood. The one and only sensible treatment, therefore, is one which cleanses the blood of these germs, and routs them entirely out of the circulation.

This is why S.S.S., the greatest known blood purifier is so successful in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is a powerful cleanser of the blood, and will remove the disease germs that cause your Rheumatism, affording relief that is genuine.

S.S.S. is sold by all druggists. Free literature and medical advice can be had by writing to Chief Medical Adviser, 154 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

THE GOOD NEWS SPREAD FAST

One person after the other kept telling about what good Drego was doing, so finally this lady bought a bottle. Relieved constipation; stopped gas forming; eased her kidney trouble and strengthened the vital organs.

"It seemed like the good news of what Drego was doing spread fast, for I kept hearing people talk about what it was doing until I decided to get a bottle also," said Mrs. Wm. A. Gast, 1314 Putnam St., Sandusky, O.

"I've suffered agonies from gastritis. My food soured in my stomach; filled me with gas and caused griping pains and a choking feeling in my throat. My bowels were constipated so that I had to take medicine almost every night for them. I had been under treatment for kidney trouble for months—seems I had taken everything except the right thing. I was losing hope of ever being real well again when I started taking Drego I was truly in a bad condition for I could eat very little solid food. Drego acted in a soothing manner on my stomach, stopping the gas almost at once. My food began to nourish me and my nerves got steady. My bowels acted in a normal way each day; the head aches stopped and my sleep became restful and I'd rise in the morning feeling refreshed. Drego has proven a wonderful tonic to my vital organs and made a new woman out of me."

Drego is made from the pure liquid extracts of many herbal plants, which act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and enrich the blood. All druggists now sell Drego and it is being especially introduced in Xenia at Sohn's Drug Store.

HAVE NOVEL WAY TO DETECT SPEEDERS

Motorcycle policemen and speed officers present no terror to the motorist who has visited Hillsboro, according to one Xenia man.

Driving across the city square in that town, the local motorist was ordered to stop by the Sheriff and taken before a justice where he was ordered to either produce a fine or put up a $500 bond for appearances the next day.

The Sheriff was able to tell the local man just how fast he was going in violation of the law, despite the fact that he had no motorcycle following him with registered speedometer. Which shows that the county officials at Hillsboro have a true eye at guessing at what speed a machine is travelling.

BRINGING UP FATHER BY George McManus

THE CHEERFUL CHERUB

Success is a thing of the heart
And yet there are people so funny
That, blind to this obvious fact,
They try to compute it in money.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am thirty-two years old and have been married twelve years. I have three sweet children whom I love dearly. My husband is a railroad man and I have often wondered if he could love whiskey and his family, too. I think he is a good man excepting that he surely will have that regardless of anything else and says he will as long as it is made.

He is not an affectionate man by any means and yet he says he loves us. He is the kind of man who thinks if he gives me his money to run the home that is all I need. But you know that isn't all a wife wants and needs.

I have gone to church and other places where men would be with their wives and oh! how my heart would ache for a husband's love. Never does he go to church, and scarcely ever anywhere else. He seems to think a woman's place is at home.

I can say in every way I do my duty as best I know how and will so long as I live. Then when I am gone from this world he cannot say I did not do my duty while on earth.

I wish he could see what a great influence he could have over me if he would. How I long for him at times. I have studied him for years, but it seems I cannot understand and I often think of that dear old song, "Sometime We'll Understand." I only wish I could understand.

I hope you may be able to help me along life's road as I feel you have helped others.

BLUE MARTHA.

One of the noblest men I have ever known made the remark that he believes each soul must go through life alone; a person may think he has found a companion, but in great moments the companion does not suffice and the soul finds it must make its struggle unaided. I believe, however, that this man spoke from his own sad experience. He himself was denied the blessing of a congenial soul and he decided that his fate was universal.

I am afraid it is your lot in life to make your struggle without understanding and sympathy from your husband. Since life is a school for the soul, doubtless that is your lesson to learn.

Following is a little verse which may be a comfort to you:

"Serene, I fold my hands and wait,
Nor care for wind, or tide, or sea;
I rave no more 'gainst time or fate,
For lo! my own shall come to me.
The stars come nightly to the sky;
The tidal wave unto the sea;
Nor time, nor space, nor deep, nor high,
Can keep my own away from me."

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Is it the girl's or the boy's place to say something about sitting on the porch after coming home early from the movies?

Is it all right for two couples at the age of seventeen to go out car riding early?

What time should a girl at the age of sixteen send her fellow home at night?

QUESTION BOX.

The girl might say, "Won't you sit down for a few minutes?"

Much trouble results from young couples going motor riding unchaperoned. So much depends upon the character of the young people. If they go early in the evening and return by dark, it would probably be all right. A girl should not go, however, without permission from her parents.

A girl at the age of sixteen is too young to have a "fellow." If a boy friend comes in for the evening he should go home by nine o'clock.

TOM AND MARY'S PROBLEM
Chapter 147

A week passed. I had not answered Kenneth's letter. I had, it is true, written three or four, but torn them up as soon as finished. In one I begged for more time. I felt I could not go with him, but neither could I tear from my heart and thoughts the ideal I had kept all the hard years of my life—my dreams of him—the only man I had met for whom I had thought I could care.

Then, too, I had none of that feeling of—something very closely resembling inferiority that I had with Frank Claxton—a feeling almost impossible to overcome because of our relations. Kenneth was a working man, a ranchman. There was no question of equality, no social questions to worry me. But—did I, now that I had met him again, grown to know him better, care enough for him to leave my work, which I had learned to love; my friends, Tom and Mary; my employer, who was so kind to me—and give myself to him.

How I wished that Dad were alive that I might ask him what to do. But—I must decide! That kept me awake at nights. It made me uneasy at all times, even when I should have been entirely engrossed with my work.

"What in the world is the matter with you, Zena?" Mary asked. I had telephoned Mother I would stop at the shop and have dinner with Tom and Mary, and we had awaited until the rush was over and we could talk.

"I don't know, Mary. I wish I did!"

"Well, I do."

"Then tell me," I said laughingly. "You're in love. Don't I know the symptoms? Go away, Tom—you ain't supposed to hear this."

"I won't go away! I'm just as interested in Miss Zena as you are," he answered flashing a look at me that asked as plainly as words if I wished him to leave us.

"That's right, oh, don't let her boss you. You stay right here."

I had no idea of putting my problem up to these two dears but I always felt better for being with them. They really loved me that I knew. And they never questioned, never intruded. I sometimes wished I were more like Mary—that I had never known anything different. She was so happy, so perfectly contented, that it was a joy to be with her and to watch her.

And Tom! He adored her, yet did not spoil her—which he might easily have done. Mary was volatile and at times had to be held with rather a tight rein. I had found that out when we lived at Mrs. Fagin's. While her ideas of right and wrong were clearly defined convention meant nothing at all to her. But Tom, like most men, was jealous of appearances. His masterful manner at times, so different from his ordinary, loving, indulgent form his ordinary, loving, indulgent form was amusing to me, but quite effective as far as Mary was concerned.

"When are you going to marry that Mr. Lawrence?" Mary whispered just before I left.

"I don't know, Mary. Perhaps never."

I was astonished at the look of gladness in Mary's face.

"It would be awful to have you go way off there, Zena," was all she said, however.

"There, no secrets!" Tom broke in. "Come, Mary, we'll take Miss Zena home."

As we walked the five or six blocks Tom explained to me how the business was going and several ideas he had for increasing it. He had been approached by some men with capital as regarded a chain of restaurants, "Pancake Shops," men who had watched the growth of the tiny place Mary and he had opened and had seen the success they had made of the business.

"I couldn't think of advising you, Tom. I wish I could," I told him. "Why don't you talk to Mr. Betts, the manager of the White Front Cafe's or—to Mr. Claxton. I am sure he would be glad to advise you."

"Do you really think so, Miss Zena? I had thought of him but hated to act fresh."

"If you want me to, I'll ask him if he will see you."

"Thank you, Miss Zena. I wish you would."
